Vincennes, Ind., Aug. 13.—The same sad story of another defeat is told in yesterday's game, as the Indians went down before the Alices by a score of 2 to 1. Runyan was on the slab for Paducah and twirled a pretty game, but his wildness forced over the winning run, while the Vincennes sluggers seemed to group what few hits they could gather. L. Johnson pitched for Vincennes and allowed only four hits, as he proved invincible with men on the bases. More had luck came to the Indians as Little Overton dislocated a finger in the eighth inning, and will be out of the game for some time.

Runyan was the cause of scoring the only run of the Indians, by driving out a two-bagger, and he is also responsible for the second score and victory of the Alices by his wildness.
The Alices grabbed the first run in the second inning. Glenn, the new backstop, walked and was sacrificed to second by M. Johnson. Hurst drove out a single and Glenn scored.
The Indians did their work in the fifth inning. Overton and Cox both singled. Then Pat Runyan surprised the Alices by hitting a drive good for two bases. Overton scored, but Cox was nabbed at the pan trying

A BOY'S HOLIDAYS.

The ardent controversy which has been waged in England and America concerning the best way to dispose of school boys in the long summer vacation has prompted the Grand Trunk Railway System to issue a special publication giving suggestions and practical hints to parents, as to what to do with the school boy during the months of July and August. The vacation camp is one of the solutions and the publication entitled, "What Shall a Boy do with his Vacation?" thoroughly covers the ground. A copy may be obtained for the asking by applying to H. G. Elliott, 917

Try Again.

Two young ladies boarded a crowded tram car and were obliged to stand. One of them, to steady herself, took hold of what she supposed was her friend's hand. They had stood thus for some time when, on looking down, she discovered that she was holding a man's hand.
Greatly embarrassed, she exclaimed:
"Oh, I've got the wrong hand!"
Whereupon the man with a smile, stretched forth his other hand, saying:
"Here is the other one, miss."

PROMPT ACTION
SAVES THE DAY

GOVERNOR WILSON HEADS OFF
NIGHT RIDERS.

Christian County Prosecuting Officers Exerting Energy in the Cases.

SOLDIERS REMAIN ON GUARD.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 13.—In the face of the excitement and uneasiness following on the heels of the shooting of Milton Oliver, of Lyon county, of Julian Robinson in Caldwell county, and Axion Cooper, in Lyon county, all alleged witnesses for the commonwealth in the prosecution of persons charged with night riding in indictments returned here, those in charge of the prosecution are going ahead with their plans and getting matters in shape for the calling of the trials at term of circuit court which will convene on the fourth Monday in September.

The effect of the shooting of the three parties named above, which it is alleged was done for the purpose of deterring any others who might be so inclined from giving evidence against parties charged with being night riders, has been to make more determined the men who are the actual spirits in the prosecution.
These men say that instead of being bluffed by any such methods they are nerved to greater endeavor. They also claim that the shootings have not frightened the witnesses they have ready to take the stand, the prompt protection afforded all such by Governor Wilson having assured them of safety.

Within two days after Oliver was shot soldiers were encamped on his place and they have not left him for a minute since that time and do not propose to do so any time soon. The killing of Axion Cooper recently was claimed by many to be another move in the plot and promptly more soldiers were sent into the district that was said to be threatened by an internal conflict.

Not only that but after the first clash between the civil and military authorities had been satisfactorily adjusted at a conference which was held at Eddyville, the county judge and sheriff and other officials of Lyon county showed most commendable zeal in putting the persons charged in the coroner's verdict with the killing behind the bars and in refusing them bail when they had waived an examining trial.

Now everything seems to be quiet but both civil and military authorities are keeping close watch on the situation and do not propose to be taken by surprise. The additional number of soldiers that was sent to Lyon county immediately after the killing of Axion Cooper, to re-enforce the guard already at Oliver's house, is still on duty and will probably remain for some time.
The effect of this, it is claimed,
has more than offset the fear that had been created by the shooting. It is even claimed now that the people, realizing that they will be given protection and also more fully aware of the necessity for telling what they know in order to overcome the conditions, are more anxious than ever to take the witness stand.

It is known that the prosecution has a number of witnesses summoned but as to who they are no one but the interested parties and the court officers know. Their names are being kept secret for fear that possibly some harm might be attempted.

In the trial here Milton Oliver, who was badly wounded when he was fired upon one night early in May,
is expected to be one of the principal witnesses. The trials were postponed at the June term of court for the reason that he had not sufficiently recovered to take the stand, although he had been brought to the city in anticipation of his being needed.

Julian Robinson, who was shot from ambush late one afternoon in June, as he was on his way home, and instantly killed, was said to be another commonwealth witness, but if he was, nothing was ever known of it here and no summons from this court had ever been issued for him. Axion Cooper was a tenant on Oliver's farm and perhaps would have been used as the witness stand had his life been shared, but no summons had been issued for him either, and he had not been mentioned in connection with the cases.

In addition to the commonwealth and county attorneys, additional counsel of the highest order has been retained to aid in the prosecution of the cases. The parties charged with the offenses have employed some of the leading attorneys of this and other bars in this section of the state.

Harbour's Department Store

NORTH THIRD STREET
Half a Square From Broadway
"The Store That Keeps the Prices Down."

Turn your thoughts and eyes and steps this way. The whole store is full of unrivaled values. Greater and greater grow the bargains. Here's a few examples of how extremely low we are pricing things for next week:

Our Silk Business on the Increase Because Our Prices Are on Such a Terrible Decrease

If we had only bought silks for an ordinary business most of our prices would have been near double our present prices.

At 25c a Yard—Down, down these silks have come from 49c a yard to their present price of only 25c. We know of no fabric that will equal them in looks and wear for 25c a yard.

While we are now clearing our shelves and counters for incoming stocks we are virtually hiring you to take these fabrics off our hands. It is truly a bargain opportunity that it will pay you to heed before the stock is exhausted.

38-inch colored Taffeta Silks at 65c a yard.

36-inch black Taffeta Silks in half a dozen qualities at bargain prices from 85c to 89c a yard.

10c Batiste 6 1/2c a Yard

This is a lot of the Pacific Mills' Contessa Batiste. It is a good luc quality. We have been selling it at 8 1/2c a yard. We have reduced the price for next week's sale to 6 1/2c a yard. The styles are mainly tan grounds. They make up much prettier than they look in the piece.

10c Voiles at 5c a Yard

Hundreds of women are buying them. If there had not been ten thousand yards in the lot they would have been cleared out within one week's time. There are many evening shades in the lot. Don't wait until they are all sold before you find out how remarkable they are at 6c a yard.

20c Poplin at 12 1/2c a Yard

This is a white ground fabric, sprinkled with figures or polka dots. It is a superb fabric for making men's negligee shirts, boys' waists and fine for other purposes. It's a bargain opportunity that you perhaps have a need for. 12 1/2c instead of 20c a yard is an inducement entitling it to your consideration. Won't you inspect it?

Bleached Domestics

We are making August a bleached Domestic bargain month. We never buy and sell the narrow widths just to be able to print a low price. When we quote bleached domestic prices they are for yard-wide goods. Five great lots of soft finished bleached Muslins on sale next week at 5c, 6c, 7 1/2c, 8 1/2c and 9 1/2c a yard, worth 8 1/2c to 12c a yard.

Silk Stockings at 49c

Ladies' pure silk black hose, made with strong mercerized heels and toes. They are the best silk stockings' bargain we have ever owned. Sold them Friday for 45c a pair. A fresh lot will go on sale Monday at 49c a pair.

25c Lisle Stockings 15c

We have a small lot of colored lisle hose, imported, German made, to sell at 25c. Take them next week at 15c a pair.

Women's Gauze Vests 5c

This price is too cheap. You couldn't buy them at wholesale for this price. They are 3 for a quarter value. On sale next week at 5c each.

$1.25 Muslin Underskirts 75c

Just 48 of this lot of Muslin Underskirts. They have a deep embroidery flounce and are away under value at 75c each. There are other extraordinary values here in muslin underskirts for next week's sale ranging from 50c all the way up to $1.69.

Ladies' 48c Muslin Drawers at 33c

They have deep embroidery ruffles, well made in every respect, fresh and desirable. Simply a great bargain that you won't be able to get again for only 33c a pair.

These Prices on Wash Dresses Do the Talking

You couldn't hire them made out of the same materials and trimmings for the prices we are now selling them. We know of nothing that looks so well for so little money. Dainty styles here next week at $1.95, $2.95, $3.75 and $4.95, worth from $5.00 to $10.00.

All Prices "Top Side" "Down Side" on Wash Skirts

There is reliability and sterling worth in every Wash Skirt in this sale. The prices are down to 75c, $1.45 and $1.95. These $1.95 skirts have been $3.50.

Prices Slashed From Beginning to End on Women's Waists

It is seldom that such handsome waists with the latest style sleeves, made in the season's best models, take on the low prices we have put upon waists of such par excellence.

A great sale of new French Waists next week at 67c each, 95c each, $1.50 each and $1.95 each.

Our Great Kimono Sale

Our Kimono prices for August need no further advertising. We have sold so many that surely everybody knows how low they are. From 26c to $2.95 each, worth double, ought to be an inducement to the public to come and take choice while the size wanted is somewhere in the assortment.

New Autumn Style Skirts

We have just received another shipment of beautiful fall skirts. These skirts are not only in the newest and the best styles, but the best tailored kinds which hang evenly and gracefully and which the most critical dresser will find complete satisfaction in. This assortment of handsome, stylish skirts is the largest and most comprehensive we have ever shown. Everything indicates that the style we are showing are to be the favorites of the fall season. These skirts are high class in every respect. The charm of this manufacturer's skirts lies very much in the gracefulness of the fit which you will not find in the great majority of other makes of skirts.

We are pricing these stylish new fall skirts at $5 to $15 each.

Wool Skirts Sacrificed

We are clearing out at cut prices many desirable skirts at $2.95, $3.50 and $4.95 each.

Clothing Department

We're making the fur fly in this stock-righting August sale of Men's and Boys' Summer Underwear, making a clearing of Men's Suits and of Boys' Suits in preparation for our new fall suits, sacrificing Men's and Boys' Straw hats with a vim, and get this fact straight in your mind. If you wear pants you are interested in this sale. If you haven't shored the savings come next week, for the end of such price sacrificing is in sight.

The Week In Society.

A GLIMPSE INTO THE FUTURE.

In nineteen hundred and twenty-two we all shall be flying—perhaps! And racing with sea-gulls and thunder clouds in dizzy aerial laps. We'll go to our business each morning then in speedy aeroplanes. And move our dirigible balloons to stepples or weather vane. Then all will be joy to the chaps who fly. But days full of fear and dread for the common people who have to dodge things dropping from overhead.

Sulfur wrenches and gasoline cans. And champagne bottles and corks. Will cover the buildings and fields and busy the chap who walks.

While now and then on the earth below will be scattered a sticky shower. When a plane with a load of butter and eggs collides with a plane of flour.

There's a possible chance that in twenty-two things will happen in just this way; but meanwhile there's one thing that's certain sure; The Auto is here today.

Educators Adopt a Plan.
Chattanooga Tenn., Aug. 12.—The educational conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, composed of leading college and university presidents of the southern states, which has been in session on Look-out Mountain for several days, completed its work this morning and adjourned. The commission was authorized by the general conference of the church to adopt educational standards. The work consisted in revising the plan of the last quadrennium, but very little change was made beyond the presentation of methods for more effective educational degree work by the universities and colleges. The plans adopted by the commission are final and will be printed in pamphlet form and supplied the colleges and universities for their future guidance.

A WOMAN'S LAND.

Burma Affords the Sex Much Freedom.

For the women Burma is a veritable heaven on earth. No country elsewhere furnishes her more freedom, more opportunity. Even occidental countries cannot vie with Burma in this respect. Mrs. Burma outrages everybody and everything. Moreover she is ubiquitous.

You find her here, there and everywhere. You stop at the jewelry store containing millions of dollars worth of pearls and rubies and precious stones, and the person in charge of the establishment is a woman. You go to a fruit stand and it is a woman who owns and conducts it and sells you a banana or a mango.

At railroad stations a Burmese woman sells you the tickets, and a fair daughter of the land is ready to take your dictation and do your type writing if you are looking for an amanuensis. The Burmese woman is not only an efficient business woman, but a good mother. Her duties as mother and merchant do not interfere with each other in the slightest degree.

Added to her superior intelligence the Burmese woman has good looks. She has eyes of a deep liquid black. The forehead is usually high and well filled out, and there is a purity of expression about the face. Her head is oval and shapely, this effect being heightened by the manner in which she dresses her hair in a big knot on top of her head. Her dress is white, with a tight-fitting jacket with large sleeves; the lower part of the body is covered by a single bright silk petticoat, which also is tight fitting and displays the figure like a modern sheath skirt.—Southern Workman.

CURE FOR SUMMER COMPLAINT

At no time of the year are the bowels put to a severer test than during the hot weather. Thousands become afflicted with "summer complaint," or running off of the bowels. The cause very often lies in the drinking of impure water, the eating of unripe fruit or tainted food. But whatever the cause it is useless to try to cure the trouble with an astringent remedy, an opiate, or salts and such things. The bowels need not only a thorough cleaning out, but the stomach needs strengthening and toning, so that they may have a new start. All this is best obtained by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a great stomach, liver and bowel cleanser. It will quickly stop the unnatural passages, which are so weakening and give rise to vertigo. Thousands of families are using it steadily and thereby avoid all digestive troubles summer and winter. Buy a 50 cent or $1.00 bottle today of your druggist and you will be surprised at the quick and lasting effects. You will find it a mild, gentle laxative, agreeable to young and old. Those who have never tried it can obtain a SAMPLE FOR A TEST FREE OF CHARGE by sending their address to

Daily Thought.

He who wishes to do wrong is never without a reason.—Syrus.

Can McCreary "come back" after that last go with "Kid" Beckham?

Life's endless contest between impervious armor and irresistible missiles.

Public interest now centers in the question whether or not "McCreary can come back."

Nothing equals an ice cream cone as an article of diet, is the endorsement Dr. Holland gives it.

We think the editor of the Hickman Post-Village Twice-A-Week Gazette handed Col. Henri one.

To be sure, the third degree for Joe Wendling would be an empty service. He will soon be made acquainted with the fourth dimension.

Just about the time those Nicaraguan armies get close enough to get together to fight, both sides run out of ammunition, and fighting is abandoned until a steamboat can arrive from New Orleans. If there was any way to do it, it would be fun to surprise both armies with a big supply of ordnance while they are facing each other and see what they would do.

A VERDICT OF THE PEOPLE.

It is seldom that a criminal case is appealed to a jury of the whole people as the Cooper case in Tennessee was. And the opinion of the citizens of Tennessee, taken without the interference of partisan politics, was registered on the side of justice and right. When the supreme court of the state by a majority of two to three sustained the verdict against Colonel Cooper, father of the slayer of Ed Carmack, Governor Patterson declared the supreme court was wrong and pardoned the prisoner. Overtures had been made to the justices of the court, who were to be candidates, that they favor Cooper in return for their nomination on the regular Democratic ticket. Three of them spurned the condition and were left off the ticket.

They appealed to the people and in a most exciting campaign they were re-elected by a majority that now runs over 50,000, while the two judges who were favored with positions on the regular Democratic ticket were defeated.

Thus was the verdict of the people of a commonwealth registered in a famous murder case, and it relieves Tennessee of the stigma of the hip pocket defense and the pistol toting habit. Something else is wrong. It is not the people. It must be that they have not had the opportunity to clearly express their opinions through the selection of representative men to public office.

The reversal of the popular conception of the Tennesseean's idea of justice, including the enormous majorities rolled up in the mountain counties, indicates that, while we have misjudged public sentiment, public sentiment also has been misrepresented. Let us find the reason why the will of the people is not properly registered in the politics of our state and we will find the remedy for misgovernment and the miscarriage of justice.

A LESSON IN AGRICULTURE.

The McCracken County Teachers' Institute, which adopted resolutions thanking God for the beautiful weather, which threatens to mature the corn before it reaches full development, also adopted resolutions, favoring a course of agriculture for the rural schools. Both the farmers and the teachers will see reasons in this incident, why such instruction would be beneficial. The farmer could wish for prayers of the teachers more in harmony with his needs; the teacher could wish more scientific knowledge on the part of the farmer, so that annually recurring dry spells won't hurt his crops. This has been no season of drought in Kentucky; yet lack of rain just at this time, usually to be anticipated, too, will reduce the value of the crop an appreciable per cent. If our farmers would study the methods of dry farming, by which the little moisture of the semi-arid regions of the west is retained in the soil, they ought to have no difficulty in making the abundant rain fall of early summer carry their crops triumphantly through a dry August.

GALLAGHER.

Gallagher shot the mayor of New York; because the mayor of New York had discharged him, and was going away on a pleasure trip. Gallagher hunted down the mayor of New York just as any prehistoric man, armed with a stone hatchet, might have hunted down an enemy and slain him.

We thrill at tales of personal revenge in the golden age of romance, and read hair-raising stories of a time when the primal instincts were still dominant in the human race, hugging ourselves the while with satisfaction that we live in a civilization that has subdued the elemental passions of the individual—to awaken to the fact that we live only in an age of improved dreams.

It is when an abnormal type—a Gallagher—appears that we see ourselves through a magnifying glass; see the selfishness, the covetousness, the hatred lurking in our natures, and realize that the little personal vanities we cultivate, become, thus magnified, horrid monsters; just as we see incarnated in germ life, the terrible creatures depicted in the fabled tales of our youths.

Selfish concern for the gratification of the senses, envy and hatred of those who enjoy more comforts, covetousness, theft and murder follow in a single path. Appreciation of true values in life brings contentment that will assist rather than retard ambition for better conditions. The Gallagher of any age should serve as a warning; for we are all Gallaghers when we think of our own desires and another's gratification.

AN IMPORTANT ELECTION.

Members of the two boards of the general council must be elected this year. The personnel of the general council is always important to the citizens; because it fixes the tax rate, makes up the budget, authorizes all improvements, and designates where and in what quantities the taxes shall be expended. The personnel is more important than usual at this election; because the quadrennial assessment of real estate will be based next year on the return of the commission, which is now engaged in valuing the real estate of the city. It is almost certain that the return will greatly increase the total assessment. This will benefit every property holder, including those whose assessment is increased, just to the extent that the membership of the general council is honest, intelligent and faithful.

The members elected in November will hold for two years, the full term of the present city administration of which it will be a part, making or marring the record of the last half of that term, and benefiting or retarding the interests of the city to that extent.

The record of the first half of the administration's term is an open book. It speaks for itself: the eradication of the floating debt, the retirement of bonds, the improvement of streets, the erection of two fire stations, improvement of the city hall, assembling of city departments for more economic management, the extension of fire protection, improvement of the levee, the development of the park system, the improvement of health conditions, and the placing of the city on a sound financial basis. If this state of affairs is to continue until all the projects of the administration are carried to completion, and the finances of the city adjusted to the new assessment, the people must choose a general council that will, not only not embarrass the administration, but will be in sympathy with its plans and purposes.

Presently both parties will be selecting their candidates for these offices. It is not sufficient for citizens to scan the tickets and choose the best. It is important for them to see to it that each party nominates good men. September 8 a Democratic city primary will be held. Already there are indications of underhanded methods to unload on the party a ticket, that, if successful, will devote the last half of the present administration to an attempt to discredit it in the eyes of the people in the hope of making political capital of the result.

A shameless assault upon the characters of the mayor, the Republican aldermen and those Democratic aldermen whose conduct in office has been distasteful to the inner circle of local politics, has just been perpetrated by a local publication. It hoped to discredit the Republicans and to ruin the chances of the Democrats named at the primary. This is established beyond doubt by the fact that it did not have since persistently refused to publish among the list it abused the names of its own favorites, whose conduct, innocent though it be, in no wise differed from that of their colleagues. The discrimination is too palpable, not to be significant.

But this is not all. A primary is to be held, and the expenses are to be borne by the candidates themselves. These offices do not remunerate a business man for the loss of his time; yet it is estimated that the primary will cost each candidate about $10. Who will put up the price? Clearly the organization, which has access to sources of liberal contributions, will pay the entry fee for candidates of its own choosing, and trust to the price being prohibitive to independents.

There is only one way to circumvent this scheme, and that is for citizens to contribute to the entry fee of good men by private subscription. The same publication that sought to damage the reputations of good citizens by proclaiming false accusations against them, made an imposing demand for a primary on the ground of fair play; but really desired only to put up a barrier in the way of an entry fee, against anti-fund candidates.

This is a subject that will require early consideration at the hands of citizens.

The only chance the Republicans ever stood in the Second appellate district was through perfect harmony. A lively contest to ascertain the real expression of the majority opinion in the district at the convention would not militate against harmony; but political wire pulling in favor of a candidate for the nomination will earn for the candidate only a chance to be defeated.

STATE PRESS.

Likes Garnett.

Hon. James Garnett of Adair county announces his candidacy for the nomination for attorney general, and says he will enter actively into the campaign and submit his claims to the Democrats in every county in the state. Mr. Garnett has been a prominent figure in state politics for many years. He has been a member of the state central committee, and has held the office of county attorney of Adair. He is a prominent Mason, having been grand master of the grand lodge of the state. Mr. Garnett is a young man of splendid legal attainments, attractive personality, a good mixer and forceful speaker. Geographically, he is well located, and would materially strengthen the ticket in the final election.—Owensboro Enquirer.

Not Insurgent Colors. The insurgent victory in Iowa and Kansas will no doubt make the faithful among the regulars of the Republican party send Uncle Joe Cannon to the tall and uncult.—Caldiz Record.

Has Anyone Here Heard Urey? The Washington Star does not think Norman Mack is predeceasing a Democratic victory with his usual confidence. But has anybody here heard Urey?—Louisville Post.

We Stand Corrected. "Breathitt county hangs her head in shame. A decadent native shot five times at Felt French and missed him," says the Paducah Sun. Nope, Breathitt is in sorrow because the Breathitts had violated the established rules and shot French face to face and not from ambush.—Calloway Gazette.

Hogs. An editor was asked "do hogs pay?" He replied "some do not;" they take the paper a good many years and then have the postmaster notify the publisher that "your publication remains in this office unclaimed for," "refused" or "gone west."—Benton Tribune.

Congratulations Will. Editor Scott, of the Third District Review, has a right to feel cheery over his victory, wrenched from the unwilling hands of old campaigners like Colonel Doorns, Dr. Turner, Senator Meredith and "Square Goode. He has won his spurs, and is entitled to ride.—Bowling Green Messenger.

THE PUBLIC FORUM.

Republican Governors. The Republican party in Tennessee, with an exceptional opportunity this year, is concerned about the selection of a nominee for governor. Since the close of the civil war the state has had but three Republican Governors.

William G. Brownlow was elected governor without formal opposition in 1865, barely 25,000 votes being cast in the election. In 1867 Brownlow was re-elected over Emerson Etheridge, Conservative Republican, by a vote of 74,034 to 22,000. In 1869 D. W. C. Senter, who as speaker of the state senate had succeeded Brownlow as governor, when the latter was elected to the United States senate, was a candidate for election as a Conservative Republican, the disabilities of the ex-Confederates. In the meantime, having been removed. He was opposed by William B. Stokes, Independent Republican, and the result was Senter's election by a vote of 120,333 to 55,050.

After this was a series of unbroken Democratic victories until 1880 when Democratic division on the state debt question gave the Republicans an opportunity. That year Alvin Hawkins, Republican, received 103,964 votes; John V. Wright, State Credit Democrat, 78,783; S. F. Wilson, Low Tax Democrat, 57,050, and H. M. Edwards, Greenbacker, 3,459.

Two years later Gen. Wm. H. Tate, Democrat, was elected governor by an unusually large plurality over Governor Hawkins, despite the fact that he was opposed by Beasley, Greenbacker, and Fizzell, "Sky Blue" Democrat.

There was no other Republican success until 1884, when H. Clay Evans, Republican, was elected governor on the face of the returns, receiving 105,104 to 104,356 cast for Turney, Democrat, and was counted out by a Democratic legislature. The largest vote ever polled for a Republican candidate for governor in Tennessee was that cast for George N. Tillman in 1896. He received 147,374 as opposed to 156,228 cast for Robert L. Taylor, the Democratic nominee.

Democratic majorities in gubernatorial elections since that time have varied from 39,552 in 1902, when James H. Frazier was first elected down to 18,867 for M. J. Patterson in 1906. The usual Democratic majority within these years has been between 25,000 and 30,000. Governor Patterson's majority two years ago was 19,933.

Heard in the Lobby

Copies of "The Roll of Honor of the National Banks of the United States" were received in Paducah this week, and the First National Bank is listed on the roll. "The Roll of Honor of the National Banks" is a table prepared by "The New York Financier" from the statements made to the Comptroller of the Currency. To secure a place on the Roll of Honor a bank must show surplus and undivided profits equal to or in excess of its capital stock—that is, assuming the capital to be one hundred per cent, the profits and surplus must exceed that percentage. In other words, a Roll of Honor bank has on hand, in the form of surplus and profits, an amount larger than its capital. A bank's numerical order on the roll is based on the percentage of surplus and profits to capital.

According to the last annual report of the Comptroller of the Currency, there were 6,977 banks in operation under national charters. Of these only 1,163 are entitled to positions on the Roll. This means that only one bank in six is a Roll of Honor bank.

CITIES WILL REAP THE BENEFIT OF THE NEW EXHIBITION PLANS

No Divided Displays Necessary to Get Products Into the Great Ohio Valley Exposition To Be Held at Cincinnati.

Many Cities and Towns Have Arranged Collective Exhibits To Be Shown From August 29 to September 24.

The general impression that the industrial portions of all expositions are alike will be put to rest by the management of the Ohio Valley Exposition next fall, when several new departures in the line of displays will be offered visitors in a way to add greatly to the general attractiveness and commercial value of the project.

Ever since expositions were inaugurated it has been the custom to segregate various industries, placing certain lines of manufactured articles in one department, thereby creating a continuous display of shoes, or dry goods, or stoves, or furniture, as the case might be. In this way no city received the credit due to its industries, and no industry received the individual attention to which it was entitled because of its being thrown in with many similar specimens in one grand display.

When detailed plans for conducting the Ohio Valley Exposition were being worked out, it was suggested that better and more satisfactory results could be obtained, especially for the industries of the smaller cities of the Ohio Valley, if each city were allowed to display examples of all her products under one roof. In this way, it was argued, the products of a city like Portsmouth or Springfield, for instance, would not be scattered through five or six buildings, but would be exhibited in one collective display, giving the city the prominence it deserved and at the same time giving distinction to each industry represented.

This idea has been carried out in the mammoth "Municipal Building," located on the canal, and extending from the elbow at the head of Plum equal footing, whether they have much or little to display, this plan of creating collective municipal exhibits was evolved, and a special building designed for these exhibits.

"So great has been the demand for space in this building to date that the prospects are that we will be compelled to enlarge the present building or erect another structure for the accommodation of the Ohio Valley cities and their industries."

NINE-FOOT STAGE BOOMS BUSINESS

Packet Companies Add Boats to Ohio River Lines.

Cincinnati, O., (Special).—Although the greater portion of the improvements in the Ohio river authorized by congress for the creation of a nine-foot stage of water the year round has not yet been begun, the anticipated benefits of this tremendous undertaking, calling for an outlay of approximately $60,000,000, are already being taken advantage of.

The Louisville and Cincinnati Packet Company which operates a line of boats between Cincinnati and Louisville, and also has subsidiary lines has added to the scope of its operations by purchasing two additional boats, which will be placed in service between Louisville and Evansville, thereby giving continuous daily service under one management from

This car, built in 1917 by George Selden, and forming the basis for all patents on gasoline automobiles now being constructed, was invented by George Selden, who is seated in the car, and who still is manufacturing machines. The original Selden car will be exhibited at the Ohio Valley Exposition at Cincinnati, Aug. 29 to Sept. 24.

street almost to the Twelfth street bridge. In this roomy structure will be located the assembled exhibits of a majority of the cities of the Ohio Valley. Here Portsmouth, O., will display her knitting mills, shoe factories, brick machinery, nonexplosive gas range and other commodities manufactured in that city. Here Owensboro, Ky., will show the "storiel without a backache," with which the Panama canal is being dug, and the "whiskey without a headache," as well as products of her tobacco fields and orchards. Indianapolis will bring over examples of some ten or twelve of her manufactured products, all assembled under the Indianapolis banner, while Springfield, O., Louisville, Ky., Wheeling, Pittsburgh, Evansville, Cairo, Paducah and other cities on the broad Ohio from Pittsburg to Cairo, will follow this lead. The result will be a collection of municipal exhibits, displayed under city flags, the like of which has never before graced and distinguished an industrial exposition.

It has been promised, too, that many of these municipal exhibits will be further enhanced by having among their features working displays, such as knitting mills; shoe lace manufacturing machinery in operation; cooking stoves utilized for baking; brick-making machinery; gas engines; electric lighting generators; worsted mills looms, and a number of others, thereby showing not only the finished products, but also how they are made.

"I have found heretofore in handling expositions that the exhibitors of the smaller cities never had a fair show," remarked Commissioner General Davidson of the Exposition.

"Their contributions to the Exposition would be scattered all over the display space, with the result that neither the city nor the firm represented received full credit for its display. In order to obviate this handicap and bring all exhibitors in on an

Cincinnati and way points to Evansville. The officials of the company are free in saying that this simplification of their operations is due directly to the anticipated revival and the greatly increased volume of river traffic which is certain to result from the improvements now being made and authorized.

Another earnest of this anticipated boom in river traffic is found in the diligence which various Ohio river communities are showing in the Ohio Valley Exposition, which will be held in Cincinnati from August 29 to September 24, and which is designed principally to exploit the industries and products of the Ohio Valley and the South. Portsmouth, O., for instance, has secured 2,000 square feet of exhibition space at the Exposition for the display of her industries.

Speaking of the benefits of a perpetual navigable stage of the Ohio River, Albert Hettiger, vice president of the Ohio River Improvement Association, said: "With uninterrupted navigation the year round, the Ohio Valley, from Pittsburg to Cairo, eventually will resolve itself into one continuous line of factories. When these improvements are complete, and the Panama canal opened, the manufacturers of the Ohio Valley will be able to compete with foreign nations for the business of any section of the world."

Band Concert at Park.

There will be a band concert at Wallace park tomorrow at which a special feature will be made of a contest of compositions by Mr. Herbert Walderstein of this city. The number to be rendered include "Dances," "The Ragtime March," the "Kentucky" waltz; two songs, "Mary, Mary" and "Mr. Moon," a potpourri of songs and melodies and a stirring march, under the borrowed title of "Vandalia Song." The balance of the program to be rendered by the band will consist of several standard musical selections and a number of guitar pieces, ragtime and other wise. Concert will be from 3 to 5 and immediately following the concert the balloon ascension will be made. There will also be free moving pictures in the Casino at night.

Tasting Opera Stagers.

A tax on opera singers is suggested in the Rochester Post-Express. That well posted paper declares: "They take immense sums of money out of the country; why should they not contribute something to the public treasury by way of reason for the debt of gratitude which they owe to the people who pay them more than any other in the world?" The proposition seems sound enough, but if ever it is put through, may heaven preserve us from having to listen to the protesting screams of the sweet voiced song birds on execution of the first payment—Musical Courier.

BOTH ACCEPT INVITATIONS

President Taft and Col. Roosevelt at Ohio Valley Exposition.

OTHER NOTED MEN TO ATTEND

Governors of Various States and Mayors of Cities of the Ohio Valley Promise Support to the Enterprise and Express Their Intentions of Visiting Cincinnati During the Great Exposition.

Cincinnati, O. (Special).—While no foreign potentates or visitors of royal birth have as yet announced their intention of attending the Ohio Valley Exposition, which will be held here next fall, a sufficient number of acceptances to invitations have been received from noted men of America to make the absence of foreign notables felt not at all. One of the first promises to attend the Exposition from men of international reputation was received from President Taft, who, besides praising the objects for which the Exposition will be held, declared his intention of spending at least a week in Cincinnati during the time of the progress of the big industrial enterprise. Following the acceptance of President Taft came others from Governor Denney, of Illinois; Governor Harman, of Ohio; Governor Glasscock, of West Virginia; Governor Marshall, of Indiana; Governor Patterson, of Tennessee, and Governor Wilson, of Kentucky. Later came assurances from all the mayors of the cities of the Ohio Valley, promising their support to the enterprise and expressing their intentions of coming to Cincinnati to spend some time during the Exposition.

Within the past few days another trump card has been played by the Exposition in securing the promise of former President Roosevelt to come to Cincinnati during the time of the Exposition. Colonel Roosevelt is desirous of coming here for several reasons. It was his great-uncle, Nicholas Roosevelt, who built the first steamboat that navigated the Ohio river, he being launched just 100 years ago—in 1810—and it being partly in commemoration of this event that the exposition is being held. It also was in Cincinnati in 1902 that Colonel Roosevelt, then president of the United States, made his first public official declaration in favor of improvement of inland waterways, a plan of conservation which has resulted, among other things, in the building of the Fernbank dam in the Ohio river, near Cincinnati, the completion of which also will be celebrated by the Exposition. It is expected that Colonel Roosevelt will spend several days in the city during the Exposition as the guest of his son-in-law, Congressman Nicholas Longworth.

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York, Aug. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review says: The situation is undoubtedly better than most of the records for the month of July now appearing indicate. For one thing, weather conditions have improved so that the crop prospects are brighter than the outlook at the beginning of the month.

This is responsible for some improvement in business confidence, although, of course, purchases in nearly all important branches of trade are conducted on a conservative basis, operations for immediate needs being more important than for future requirements.

The volume of transactions is still large, in spite of the admitted contraction in iron and steel and other lines. Although contraction in iron and steel continues, the trade conditions are generally regarded hopefully and the monthly statement of unfilled orders by the leading producers shows a decrease in July less than was expected and there is no important change in prices. The comparative activity in wire and pipe products is maintained. In dry goods curtailment of output and firmer values are the features, this being due to the high cost of production and the conservative purchases, although buyers are numerous in the markets.

Values in cotton goods are distinctly firmer and are well maintained, notice having been given by one large producer of an intention to hold prices on staple kingboms on their present level until October 1, 20 days longer than the notice of May 14 indicated. Retailers and jobbers are still pursuing a conservative policy in their purchases for late shipments, but the dry to day trade is steady. Varns are higher and firmer. In men's wear, the demands for worsteds are broadening, while wool goods for spring are not doing so well as a year ago. Dress goods are still adversely affected by the strike in the garment making establishments.

A more satisfactory volume of fall orders are noted in the shoe trade and more interest is shown for spring. The leather markets are not as strong and active as hides, but there is some improvement and tanners are less inclined to grant concessions. Further sharp advances have been realized this week in almost all varieties of domestic and foreign hides, and the demand is especially active for late salting stock, which is about the best quality of the year.

PAN-AMERICAN

CONGRESS APPROVES THE NEW CONVENTION.

Obligating Republics of South America to Amicably Settle Disputes.

Buenos Ayres, Aug. 13.—The Pan-American congress has unanimously approved a new convention obligating the republics of South America to submit all pecuniary claims that they are unable to settle amicably through diplomatic channels.

The Venezuelan delegate declared he signed this proposal under reserve and with the understanding that diplomatic appeal should be had only in the case of a denial of justice.

For two years he has served as principal of the Whittier school, but last spring was elected principal of the Franklin school. This summer he and Mrs. Donovan attended the West Kentucky State Normal school. Prof. and Mrs. Donovan are spending several days in the city, but will leave soon for Wickliffe.

The Teddy Bear Again. The teacher was telling the story of Red Riding Hood, says Judge. She had described the woods and the wild animals that live there.

"Suddenly," she said, "Red Riding Hood heard a loud noise. She turned around and what do you suppose she saw standing there, looking at her and showing all its sharp, white teeth?"

"Teddy Roosevelt!" cried one of the boys.

STAUNTON SINKS

CAVE-IN OF BUILDINGS ON MAIN STREET.

Underground Stream Believed to Be Responsible—People Are Alarmed.

Staunton, Va., Aug. 13.—A cave-in which occurred here yesterday in the heart of the city continues to alarm residents, and there has been a general exodus from adjacent buildings. The fire house is now sinking and the public school building is threatened. A large portion of the two-story residence of Prof. C. L. Wilson has fallen and the back yard has sunk 30 feet below the house.

It is believed the cave-in was caused by an underground stream, which has been undermining the buildings adjacent to it.

Submarine With Flies.

The inventor of a submarine that is to be propelled by flies and possesses many novel features has described his wonderful craft to a London Morning Leader representative. Middleton, the inventor, expressed surprise that in a study of propulsion for a period of 5,000 years he is the first to adopt the principle of the fly. His boat is said to be able to sink almost vertically in a few seconds, while the present submarines of the British C class require at least five minutes to get into a proper state for diving.—Scientific American for a year or more, telling you that you ought to know all about the company that carries your fire insurance, but have you done anything about it? Many have, but the majority of policy-holders have done nothing about the selection of a company. They are still "fiddling".

In the history of fire insurance in America, a large majority of the fire insurance companies organized have failed or retired from business. To be insured in companies like Well's, that have been in business a hundred years and will be in business a hundred years from now, costs no more than to be insured in one that may go out of business next week.

VIRGINIA OF THE AIR LANES

By HERBERT QUICK

"I don't think I'll get you another posy, Caroline," said the old man, "licking it to bits like that." "I'm trying my fortune," said she, with a little embarrassed laugh. "Humph!" said her father.

The younger man, seemingly recovered from his perplexity, was touching the row of buttons one by one, and as the launch gathered way Virginia heard him say to button after button: "She loves me! She loves me not! She loves me! Hooley!"

The about greeted the favorable answer of the oracle. The lady, as if feeling the fingers in her curls, turned and gently slipped the gentleman's ears. The launch shot into the canal and out of sight. The ladies were made sole owners of Carson's cabin, and the men slept with the aeroplane by night, while by day Captain Harrod stood to aid Theodore, slipping away to the top of the dunes at times to scan the edging for the slimy nose of Stickback, inexplicably reappearing with her oval deck just awash, her thin, semi-invisible periscope in air. Having arranged with Reagan for a cessation of the contraband business until the aeroplane was off the stocks, the captain was worried. He wanted the Chantiqua salute one day, whereupon the submarine sounded like a galled rump.

The captain's ingenuity was not equal to the task of developing a theory to account for her presence or her nimb. Carson suddenly became possessed of an unrelenting energy that commanded Virginia's admiration. As he told her again of his struggles, his experiments, his falling into the garden of Dr. Witherspoon, his meeting with Craighead, the financial enlistment of Mr. Waddy and of the puzzling messages he had received she became an enthusiast too.

"I'd like to meet Mr. Craighead," said she. "I'd like to feel sure that he can secure a monopoly of the navigation of the air."

"You might form an opinion of him," said he, "by reading his telegrams." "Of whom?" inquired Virginia, evidently thinking of something else.

"Craighead," replied Carson. "Here they are. What do you think of them?" The first was dated Charleston, W. Va. "Air products Incorporated," it ran. "Immense sensation in trust incubator and broader. Why don't I hear from illustrious co-conspirator? Craighead, the Plute."

"Tries to be humorous," said Virginia. "Let's see the next." The next date was dated, "En route to Cosmopolis from incubator," and was unsigned. "To him who commands the winds, from him who winds the commands, greeting." It ran, "Be of good cheer. The train is laid, the gun is set, the dogs of war strain forward in the leash. But is there any aeroplane? Brown end of pipe dream assumes terrifying concreteness. Noble, sir, assure me of thine! Just wire saying you are you and there is an aeroplane, collect!"

"Did you answer this?" asked Virginia. Theodore shook his head. "It was days and days before I got it."

"Why didn't he send it to the plantation?" asked Virginia. "I gave him this address," said Theodore. "I stayed there too—too long." He opened the gyroscopic globe and began running the engines lightly, setting the heavy little wheels spinning, rocking the aeroplane from side to side to note the operation of the balancing devices. Preserving their perpendicularity, as if of intelligent purpose, the gyroscopes moved the levers of the wing differentials which would accelerate the propeller wheels of the lower wing and correspondingly slow the upper. Right or left, stern or bow, the depressed area would work the hunder, the raised part slower, while powerful rudders co-operated, moving like a fish's fins, even now while the propeller revolved. Theodore was getting past an awkward reference to his long stay at the plantation by a painstaking examination of the brain of his airship.

"See how it works, Virginia," he exclaimed. "It knows the levers to be moved. Why, if a puff starts to overturn her she'll strike with the lowered wings alone like a bird. And see the intelligence of those rudders! And Winger said she'd turn turtle!"

"And Mr. Craighead doesn't get any report of all this! What must he think?" "I told him about it," said Theodore proudly. "And it was no time to telegraph apologies. It was a time to work."

Virginia opened another of Craighead's telegrams. It was addressed to Paluotto Beach, "or somewhere it is hoped," and seemed to be regarded by Craighead as very important. "My luck hath turned! It is Craighead's letter now," said he. "I have found a gang of grafters organized to get us grants in no time; will check New York by Friday; Chicago already hemmed in. New thought—fee of roads in grafters everywhere. Will acquire title except for road purposes. Shayne, thy son sets apace! Whoopi. Whoopi! Whoopi! We've got 'em, we've got 'em! Caroline's dad ready to bust all eight banks to back scheme. You must make good, Theodore. Answer for the sake of divine pity just one lecture money!" Napoleon Bonaparte humbled himself to Craighead.

the studio and the hall outside. Craighead's sculptor friend, with a lady model, escaped the angry mob into the scaffolding of an equestrian group representing an Indian maiden in a stampede of buffaloes. The model had been posing for something—an Indian maiden perhaps—and had feathers in her hair.

WE WENT ABOUT WITH MARVELOUS RAPIDITY.

representing an Indian maiden in a stampede of buffaloes. The model had been posing for something—an Indian maiden perhaps—and had feathers in her hair.

Craighead broke through by imperceptibly an officer, shouting "Make way for the police!" and upreaching the crowd with his elbows.

"Hello, De Land!" said he, nodding to the sculptor. "Most beautiful princess of the Apaches, how?"

"That you, Craig?" called down the sculptor. "What not so? Go after the police. Turn these people out, please, Craig!"

"Friends of mine," said Craighead, "I advertised for 'em. Hope you haven't been incommoded, old man."

"Not at all!" replied the sculptor sarcastically. "But get them out so Miss Brown and I can descend."

Craighead's manner of disposing of the crowd commanded Mr. Waddy's sincere respect. He went about with marvelous rapidity, sending away those whose nonutility was unquestionable and unkindly engagements with others at "our Wall street office," the name of which made everybody more respectful.

The dinner to which Mr. Craighead took Mr. De Land, Miss Brown and Mr. Waddy was the first of a series which reduced Mr. Waddy to torpor. The old gentleman, in his long frock coat which buttoned to a surcoat, his frowzy face and his evident attachment to Mr. Craighead, was remembered in certain ultra bohemia circles for his surreptitious slinking into the dimmest corners of cafes and roof gardens. He had a dark secret, Mr. Craighead said, which he did not explain, originated in Mr. Waddy's agreement with the lady in goggles that the whole situation was improper. He felt obliged to keep with Craighead because of a suspicion that the aeroplane was a fragment of two Slattery Institute imaginations, and he did not purpose to let any guilty man escape. So he providently engaged a detective to shadow both himself and Mr. Craighead, the unrelenting presence of whom in very plain clothes made Mr. Waddy feel and look guilty and fugitive.

His second reason for becoming Mr. Craighead's double was his sense of duty of preventing that pupil of Dr. Witherspoon from breaking the vow of abstinence. So he drank most of the intoxicants served to Craighead, somewhat to the injury of his health, but much to the betterment of his reputation as a roaster. Altogether it was a relief to get Craighead back home, where he installed him as a ledger and boarder, charging him well for his accommodation and lending him the money on his note to pay for it. On arrival he went to bed and turned Craighead over to Mrs. Graybill, with strict injunctions to telephone the sheriff's office if he was unaccounted for for more than an hour.

It was a situation with some unique aspects. Mr. Craighead began whirling away time with a work on the "Morphology of the Crawfish" and dips into De Quincey's "Spanish Nun." Looking from the library window, he saw Mrs. Graybill enter a summer house, leaving a red hat on the railing outside.

The "Morphology" grew uninteresting. Craighead stepped from the window, went into the summer house and started at finding Mrs. Graybill there, her hair tousled about her head, her little nose elevated in that comical resemblance to her father's. "Mr. Waddy informs me that the late Mr. Graybill was a minister of the gospel," he ventured.

"Yes," she replied, "he was."

"And that he has been called," Craighead went on, "to a better life a year or more?"

"Fourteen months," answered Mrs. Graybill.

"I have been reading," said Craighead, "a work on the 'Morphology of the Crawfish.' It holds me enthralled. The person who fails to glean wisdom from the crawfish has never tested his intelligence with a bare toe or studied his morphology."

Mrs. Graybill looked at Craighead sternly.

"Don't pose," said she. "Don't think that I want a beautiful lesson in everything. I have been a minister's wife. Tell me of Mr. De Land and—Sally Brown and the chop suey and—what life. Tell me, Mr. Craighead."

When O. Henry Lost Prestige.

Once, when exploring a factory district for story material, O. Henry invited a bright little girl to dine with him. She accepted on condition that she might bring a friend along. During dinner the writer sought to make his guests feel at ease by resting his English to the extent of using "ain't" and "hadn't oughter" and a few other popular mutilations of the mother tongue.

He saw the little girl a few days later.

"I was awful mortified that night," she said. "You spoke so ungrammatical before my lady friend!"

One of these capitalists was a mean man. He sold a decrepit whaleboat, as good as new what of the fresh white paint, to a Marquesan chief. But no sooner had the captain sailed away than the whaleboat dropped to pieces. It was his fortune, some time afterward, to be wrecked, of all places, on that particular island. LOW WATER STAGE FOR STEAMBOATS

PACKET LINES MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR IT.

St. Louis and Tennessee Company to Use the Ryman Line Boats.

NEW HULL FOR JOE FOWLER

Approach of low water season is commanding the attention of steamboat owners and activity in preparation for the low stage has begun.

The steamer J. H. Richardson, now plying between Paducah and Nashville has been chartered to the Paducah and Evansville packet company by the Ryman steamboat line and will enter the trade next week. The John S. Hopkins will be tied up at Evansville until after the low stage.

The St. Louis and Tennessee River Packet company has made arrangements with the Ryman line for the steamer Richardson and Reuben Dunbar in case the Tennessee river reaches a low stage and in this case the Bob Dudley will replace the Richardson in the Paducah and Evansville trade.

Captain George Doubleday, general manager of the Ryman line, returned from Evansville last night after chartering the Richardson to the Evansville packet company. She will leave Paducah next Thursday in the Hopkins place and continue until the Tennessee river becomes too low for the steamers Clyde and Kentucky. Then the Dunbar and Richardson will take the places of the Clyde and Kentucky until more water is in sight. Each of these boats draw 24 inches. Captain Doubleday made arrangements with Captain James Koger, of the Tennessee River Packet company while here to provide the two boats for this trade when the Clyde and Kentucky are compelled to tie up.

The John L. Lowry, now being operated between Paducah and Evansville, is a low water boat and will be able to run throughout the low water season.

Rivermen here anticipate a low stage of water for the next few months. The Ohio and Cumberland rivers are falling and while the Tennessee river has a fairly good stage it is receding also. The Ryman line will operate the Bob Dudley between Paducah and Nashville next week. She draws only 17 inches and will be able to run unless the Cumberland goes dry.

Captain Doubleday said there was talk in Evansville of building a new hull for the Joe Fowler, which is practically out of commission. Her upper works are in good condition and a new hull may be provided before the first of the year. The Fowler is being used for the excursion business exclusively at present. She was operated between here and Evansville for years up until several months ago, when the old company dissolved. Dull business compelled the new owners to work the trade with only one boat, the Hopkins.

Captain Doubleday returned to Nashville at 11:20 o'clock this morning.

PATTERSON WILL REMAIN IN RACE

PROPOSAL FOR PRIMARY MEETS LITTLE ENCOURAGEMENT.

He Is Expected to Address Letter to Democratic State Committee in Called Session.

THE REPUBLICAN SITUATION

The Nashville Banner says: "Among the few politicians in the city there has been more or less gossip concerning the effect of the address issued by Governor Patterson offering to waive the gubernatorial nomination and to test the choice of the entire Democracy of the state in a primary election. With the administration Democrats the opinion is expressed that the governor's statement is in line with his previous 'candid, fearless statements;' that it places him in an unsatisfactory position; that the card shows the governor's unselfish and patriotic desire to perpetuate Democratic control in Tennessee and to prevent, if possible, the entire disruption of the party."

"The anti-administration Democrats are treating the governor's declaration with apparent indifference. The few Democrats of this faction who are in the city from out of town points express the opinion that the governor's statement is merely made for campaign purposes; to enable him and his followers to make a further cry of 'regularity;' to place them in a position to claim the governor has done everything in his power in an effort to bring about party harmony and to bring additional charges of irregularity and 'bolters' against the party element which has refused to subscribe to the Patterson machine methods. Every man seen expressed it as his opinion that the governor's proposition should and would be entirely ignored, and that the anti-administration fight should be continued along the lines upon which it has been conducted up to this time, resulting in the tremendous victory of August 4 for the Independent Judiciary ticket."

"Among the other gossip is a rumor to the effect that in the event of Governor Patterson's proposition being turned down—ignored, and cast into the discard—that a meeting of the Democratic executive committee will be called to consider the situation and that likely enough the governor will address a communication to that body. The nature of this predicted announcement, of course, cannot be fore-shadowed, but in any event the followers of the governor say the odium of turning the state of Tennessee over to the Republicans will rest on other shoulders than those of Mr. Patterson."

Will Not Withdraw.

"There is a continuance of the report that Governor Patterson may withdraw from the gubernatorial contest. Following the issuance of his primary proposition, some expressed the opinion that this would be followed by his withdrawal declaring that the governor's address was but an evidence of political admission of such on his part. One of the governor's closest friends, a man who is in position to know the governor's political plans, if any man in the state does, was asked if there was any probability of the governor withdrawing. The gentleman replied that the governor would certainly remain in the race until the very end—even if he should receive only one vote in November. He added that the governor is 'not a quitter.'"

"The boom started the other day in the interest of Judge McFenderson for the Republican nomination for governor seems to gather volume as the hours go by and in political circles most of the talk was favorable to him, notwithstanding the fact that the real knowing ones say Overall has the inside track and is 'running easy.' They say Foster Brown cannot harmonize the factions and that therefore his nomination is not to be thought of."

Too Much Impressed.

Dictate to the DICTAPHONE

The Picture Tells the Whole Story

The Busy Man Doesn't waste a second of his valuable time waiting for a stenographer. He turns to his Dictaphone as he would to his telephone and gets the thing done. He talks naturally, just as he would talk if the man to whom he is writing were sitting by his desk. He has no speed limit. Result: Letters that have ginger, letters that convince, letters that sell the goods.

The Operator Has the whole day to get out the mail instead of only half the day or two hours at the day's end. No exertion from looking on and all her notebook. Absolute regulation of the speed at which the dictation is reproduced. No time wasted taking shorthand notes. No interruption to take dictation while transcribing the mail. She gets through and gives home on time.

The Cost Doesn't figure at all. The machine will cut your correspondence expense in half. It won't take long to save the cost of installation. President Johnson, of the American Lumber Company of Pittsburgh, figured that he saved the cost of a twelve machine outfit the first eight months after it was installed.
